A PERSON OF 30 may secure Rs. 1,000 at Death by a yearly payment of Rs. 27-4 during the life. Premiums would generally elsewhere secure Rs. 900 only instead of Rs. 1,000.

OR, if unwilling to burden himself with payments during his whole life, he may secure the same sum of Rs. 1,000 by twenty yearly payments of Rs. 36, being thus free of Premiums before age 50, this premium being about the same as most Offices require during the whole term of life.

OR, if preferring to make provision for his old age or for his family in case of death, he may secure the same sum of Rs. 1,000 payable at age 55 or death by yearly payments of Rs. 33-11.

TRADE THERAPION MARK.

This successful and highly popular remedy, as employed in the Continental Hospitals by Ricord, Rostan, Jobert, Velpeau, and others, combines all the desiderata to be sought in a medicine of the kind, and surpasses everything hitherto employed.

THERAPION No. 1 in a few days only removes all discharges from the urinary organs, effectually superseding injections, the use of which does irreparable harm by laying the foundation of stricture and other serious diseases. In dysentery, piles, irritation of the lower bowel, cough, bronchitis, asthma, and some of the more trying complaints of this kind it will be found astonishingly efficacious, affording prompt relief where other well tried remedies have been powerless.

THERAPION No. 2 for impurity of the blood, scurvy, pimples, spots, blotches, pains and swellings of the joints—often mistaken for rheumatism—secondary symptoms disease of the bones, sore throat, and all diseases for which it has been too much a fashion to employ mercury, sarsaparilla, &c., to the destruction of the sufferer's teeth and ruin of health. This preparation purifies the whole system through the blood, and thoroughly eradicates every poisonous matter from the body.

THERAPION No. 3 for nervous exhaustion, wasted vitality, horrid dreams, and all the distressing consequences arising from early error, excesses, &c. It imparts new vitality, &c. It possesses surprising power in restoring strength and vigour to the debilitated.

"The value of

A LADY TYPIST.

Offers Real Help—

Our Readers continue to show extraordinary interest in the series of Opinions and Experiences of the People which appear here at short intervals, and we are assured by numberless correspondents that the information is an invaluable help to them. Practical evidence of the utility of these Opinions is contained in a letter received from Miss O. E. W., a Lady Typist, who writes from Aston Manor. Miss W. says that she was compelled to give up business owing to nervous collapse resulting from overwork. Failing to obtain relief from her doctor, and noticing how Universal is the belief in Phosferine, she decided to try the effect of the renowned Tonic. The immediate and permanent relief which followed the administration of Phosferine enabled Miss W. to resume her business almost at once, and so grateful is the young lady that she offers to help in every possible way to make known the remarkable and unfailing curative properties of Phosferine.

And Wants it Known.

Miss O. E. W.——, Aston Manor, writes:—"It gives me great pleasure to be able to testify to the excellence of your wonderful nerve remedy Phosferine. I have derived infinite benefit from the use of it, and have recommended it to many of my friends. I suffered very severely with my nerves for some considerable time, and I am glad to say that through the aid of Phosferine I am decidedly better and shall certainly do my best to make it more widely known. I had suffered for some time with verysevere pains in my head. I went to the doctor but got little or no relief and was induced to try Phosferine, which I did with most satisfactory results. I have taken three bottles and feel quite myself again, in fact, decidedly better than I have felt for at least 12 months." I am a Typist and find it exceedingly trying to the Nerves. During the heaviest week I had since I have been to business (which is just over four years) my nerves suddenly gave way without any warning whatever. I had to give up business for some time and could not bear to hear anyone speak or move. It was the most horrible experience I have ever had, but in future I shall know what remedy to try. Allow me to again express my very high opinion of Phosferine and assure you that I shall always recommend it to my friends."—Feb. 14, 1905.

The Royal Example.

Phosferine is used by the Royal Families of Europe which, in plain language, means that every user of Phosferine knows and feels that the Tonic is commended by the greatest living Physicians.

BOMBAY, FRIDAY, Oct. 6.

The usual dry hot weather of October is now being experienced throughout the Peninsula, diversified by occasional thunder storms and sou-hasvy rain in South India. Advices from upe country on the whole, are satisfactory, though complaints continue to be received from some districts, where the monsoon rainfall is much below the average. But the September rains have gone far towards checking the famine conditions prevailing early in that month, and a good export season may be looked forward to in Bombay, notwithstanding the shortage in our local rainfall. Cotton crops are reported to be in excellent condition in all parts, with the exception of the Broach districts, and prospects are very good. As the prosperity of Bombay depends largely on cotton, there is a very favourable outlook for the ensuing year, and the late rise in all Cotton Mill shares shows how the public are anticipating coming events

The Doorga Puja holidays are now on in Calcutta, and the Banks there are closed for three days this week. Money is in good demand on the Bengal side, but locally the market continues quiet. Rupee paper is declining slowly as the busy season approaches. The Council bill allotments are increased to ninety lakhs this week, and the sterling exchange market is very steady following the firm discount market in London. The new Russian loan announced is probably affecting the London money market.

COTTON.

The Agricultural Bureau report published on the 3rd instant, came as a surprise to the Bulls in this market. It was immediately followed by a considerable drop in prices in America and Europe, where the high figure of 7'2 was not anticipated. Private telegrams had been received in Bombay foretelling 6'75 as the average, and the markes remained very sensitive until the official figures were published. The weather during the past month must have been very beneficial to the crop, notwithstanding the repeated advices of damage caused by too much rain. Stocks are accumulating, and spot prices in New Orleans have gone down to 10 cents. We are informed the decline is due to "the disappointing attitude of Spinners" but we hear nothing now of the Southern Growers' Association, which decided a short time ago that they would not sell a bale of cotton under 11 cents a pound. This Association must now be approaching the same condition as the British Cotton Growers' Association, which created such a stir when American Cotton was at famine prices, and is now apparently moribund for want of funds, since the market has been flooded by last year's American crop. The Yankees have shown they are quite able to supply the world's requirements with cotton, but the price in the long run must depend on the consumers at all events for spot, however speculators may manipulate the futures market. There seems little probability of any lack of the raw material during the next 12 months, as present figures point to a crop of 11 to 11 1/2 million bales, which added to the large carry over from last season's crop, will leave a big surplus at the end of September next. As to the price at which the cotton will go into consumption, it seems probable that the attitude of Spinners well remain disappointing until a lower range of quotations is current.

The following are the daily closing quotations for Spot Middling Americans in Liverpool and New York during the past week :—

Our local market was quiet early in the week, as the enquiry for spot cotton fell off, when September shipments were completed. In new crops, however, there was more doing, and a fairly large turnover was reported on Tuesday afternoon when exporters and mills came into the market, there was also some enquiry from the bazaar to cover previous sales. On Wednesday, the market opened with a decline of about Rs. 5 per candy for new crops, but a reaction set in later on in the afternoon, and the market closed steady. Business, however, was limited, and yesterday and to-day buyers are not keen to operate, though rates have again declined. As we have already stated, crop prospects are excellent in India and as the area has increased in many districts a record crop is looked forward to. In Bengals alone, the season, up to the present time, has not been favourable, and of this description the outturn expected is from 8 to 10 annas of an average crop. Against this is to be placed the possibility of a 20 annas crop in the Berars and Central Provinces, and a very large increase in Broach and Dhollera districts compared with the past year. It is, of course, much too early to make any forecast of the South Indian crop, the average of which adds some 150,000 bales to the arrivals in Bombay.

We give below the arrivals into Bombay, and the exports from Bombay during the 12 months ending on the 30th September. The most noticeable feature in the former is the very small receipts of Dholleras, which are under a lakh of bales. This description alone in former years has added as much as 4 1/2 lakhs of bales to our Bombay receipts, and present prospects of the crop are much more favourable than they were last year. With regard to the exports to Europe the total is much lower than for many years past, with the exception of the famine years. This is entirely due to the enormous American supplies flooding the European markets at much lower prices than the usual parity of Surats. It is to be noted, that more than two lakhs of bales included in the figures for export to Europe, have been shipped during the monsoon months, when the parity of prices assumed a more normal figure. Our shipments to Japan were enormous, and the stocks there at present are very large, this quite accounts for the falling off in the exporting for our

A MOULVI'S RETIREMENT FROM PUBLIC LIFE.

WE understand that Khan Bahadur Shams-ul-Ulma Moulvi Zakaullah has just retired from public life. His has been an eventful career, some of the incidents of which are worth recording. Moulvi Zakaullah was born at Delhi in 1831 coming out of a noble stock of early settlers in the days of Mahomedan rule. After he had gone through his studies (Government appointed him as Delhi a teacher of Mathematics in which subject he had well qualified himself, and afterwards promoted him to various posts of distinction in the Department of Public Instruction. The appreciation of his works and of his valuable services was further shown by awarding him a Khilat on one occasion and some rich presents on another. After serving the Government for 35 years he retired of his own accord from his last post of Professor of Vernacular Science and Literature in the Muir Central College, Allahabad. At the time of his retirement the Government granted him the title of Shams-ul-Ulama and Khan Bahadur, also a life it fellowship in the University of Allahabad. From the time of his retirement he has been engaged engaged in writing on various subjects. By 1902, he had finished 157 books on different subjects of literary and educational, value besides contributing hundreds of articles to vernacular papers and magazines. The Secretary to Government, N. W. P., in a letter to the Director of Public Instruction while referring to the works of Mouoivi Zakaullah stated that the Government were much indebted to their old employee Munshi Zakullah (a, that time Head Master of the Government Normal School Delhi) for the industry displayed in the preparation of the excellent series of scientific works and for his public spirit in publishing them and it is therefore much pleasure in assigning the reward of Rs. 1,500 in recognition of the services he had rendered. Besides these Mathematical works, the Moulvi produced original books on Political Economy, Urdu Literature, Moral Essays, History and Geography, all in Hindustani. These books have greatly helped the Mahomedan students in particular and the public in general, to come in close contact with the researches and improvements amongst the people of the West in these important branches of literature. The last book which will remain a lasting monument to his arduous labour in Urdu literature was completed only last year. It is a biography of Her Majesty Queen Victoria and the Prince Consort together with the history of the British Empire and of the administration and progress of India under Queen Victoria. The book is divided into six volumes, containing 3070 pages. Such a work in the Urdu language has been a long felt want among the educated classes of the Mussulmans and this history has been a valuable addition to Urdu literature. It always remained his intention and heart-felt desire to serve his country by improving its educational state, and in order to discharge this debt and the debt of kindness which he owed the Government he undertook to write, intending it to be the last work of his life, the above copious biography and history in the Urdu language which has since been published.

EADE'S

THE CURE FOR

GOUT AND RHEUMATISM.

THE never-failing effects of EADE'S GOUT and RHEUMATIC PILLS in curing these distressingly painful diseases, have secured to them a celebrity unequalled by any medicine of past or present times. They not only give relief in a few hours where the patient has been driven almost to madness by the horrible excruciating tortures of this disease, but prove to perfect health in an inconceivable short space of time—in most cases giving relief from the intolerable pain in one or two hours; one bottle will frequently carry off the attack in two or three days, even when the patient has kept his bed for as many weeks, and sometimes months.

The authentic testimonials of decided cures obtained by the use of these Pills, sent unsolicited to the Proprietors, from all parts of the kingdom and from all classes of society, with a rapidly increasing sale, need no comment for them at home and abroad especially fully warrants the assurance that no person subject to these disorders will, after a trial, be without them.

THE MILL LABOUR AGITATION.

MORE importance than is usually attached to an anonymous letter, will be allowed in the case of that, which appeared in our columns yesterday, initialled "H. E. G." He is a man who speaks plainly, very much to the point, and with authority. He will recognise no magnanimity, no great-heartedness, no self-denial, but merely the making a virtue of necessity, in the action of those agents who have announced their intention of limiting the hours of mill-work to thirteen. They were, as a matter of facts, he says, "forced to take this step by the mill hands, who left the Currimbhoy group of mills in a body the day before, and had threatened to close their machines the next day unless the engines stopped at six o'clock. The agents considered discretion the better part of valour, and closed." The writer will not grant them a claim to be regarded as benefactors. He condemns them as attempting to throw dust in the eyes of Government. And why? Because they wish to prevent Government interference. Because they mean to throw a dummy to the wolves so as to gain time and then, says the correspondent, "it will not be many months before the same state of things will prevail, except that higher wages will be offered as an inducement to the workmen for electric light overtime. It is a grave charge to make, but if we examine the letter of Mr. Sassoon J. David, we shall find it furnishes a good deal of support to "H. E. G." Mr. David frankly confesses that nothing short of Government intervention will remedy existing evils. He, too, is afraid of black sheep. If the Millowners' Association is potential of good, it ought to be able to carry into effect the principle of one of its own resolutions. That resolution expressed the desire of a majority—13 to 8—that a twelve hours' working day all the year round should be adopted.

The hours remain unaltered. Considering the years the mills worked at a loss and factory hands earned beggars' pittance it is little wonder mill agents are making the most of their opportunity—temporary at the best—and that mill-hands will seek the mills where they can make most overtime. "Friends" of the mill-hands to-day will blame themselves very much hereafter when the mills are closing down that they did not permit the hands to make as much as possible when there was the chance. The opportunity will be the less long-lived because of the invocation of the aid of Lancashire. It is a very fine country and has some very capable men among its manufacturers and among its labour leaders. They are men who look after their own interests very closely and who would not neglect any opportunity of pushing their manufactures wherever an opening occurred. They would welcome any "business-like" method of handicapping their competitors, even to the extent of tying their hands. Such an opportunity has never before presented itself. The leading organ of their craft has closed its eyes to all the extravagances of style and the primary colours which an irresponsible impressionist was permitted to indulge in. It has ignored the fact that only a few days before "T. J. B." wrote to the "Courier" to say that the "Guardian" did not know what it was talking about on Indian affairs. These little things counted for nothing. Lancashire was already looking with envious, covetous eyes on Bombay's profits and, early last month, had begun to move. It is no use exclaiming "Alone I did it, boy," Manchester had already read and written and commenced its agitation. No sooner had they received the Indian newspapers telling them of the resolution of the Bombay Millowners' Association than Lancashire was told that "Bombay mills are competitors, and severe competitors, of Lancashire concerns, and it is a fair subject for Manchester men to take up and, if necessary, take action upon. They may do so with more assurance of being listened to in consequence of the action taken by the Bombay Millowners' Association. It may be within the mark that Lancashire can do as much in nine hours as Bombay in 13, but there is clearly a strong case for action by the Indian Government, and it should have warm support from operatives in this country."

This, published early in September, was enough to set Lancashire moving, yet the local Frankenstein, not content with turning loose the monster he had constructed out of the "horrid remnants of the church-yard and the dissecting-room," among the mill agents of Bombay, stirs up their natural enemies to supply additional galvanism to render it the more terrible. The end will come when it will turn and rend the guilty philosopher. Meantime it is necessary that we should look to our own protection. We have already said that before any legislative measures are taken we should prefer the conduct of a searching and comprehensive inquiry. It is no use running a Bill through the Legislative Council and leaving a Select Committee to reduce it to a semblance of shape. Have the inquiry first. See what is necessary. Leave the aerial gymnastics of inexpert and casual observers to take care of themselves. For a time only can they illude unthinking people. Even those agents who tacitly admit the mills are working too long hours, deny the other charges against them and now that they have, "for the sake of example," limited the hours and abandoned working by artificial light, they express a pious hope that "others will follow in the same direction," that "all other mills will follow suit." Supposing others do not, will they revert? Mr. Sassoon J. David has apparently some misgivings as to whether he has done the right thing. For immediately following his invitation to others to follow him voluntarily, he makes an appeal to Government to force them. "It is most inexpedient, however, that Government shall take [illegible]

THE RACE-TRAIN RAID.

We are always ready to give the Police the fullest credit for doing their duty. They have very hard times and they come in for a lot of abuse. There are many offences and few captures. Most of their work has nothing to show for it. But when they make a haul such as they made in the "race special," something over a month ago, though they had much to show for their trouble, we have no hesitation in saying that it was an achievement they had better have spared themselves. No more ill-advised action was ever taken by a responsible police officer. If the train had been full of gentlemen of the black cloth, returning from a Missionary Conference there might have been some justification for rushing in unawares and carrying off those wicked persons who would engage in games with cards and dice, on a technical offence and punishing them with a technical fine at Bomby, or even letting them off with a caution if there had been any difficulty about the precise taluka in which the play occurred. Here is a blind cutting from the learned Magistrate's decision: "The offence is not that the individual members are making a profit at all, but simply that they are carrying on their gambling with such publicity that the ordinary passer-by cannot well avoid seeing it, and being enticed, if his inclinations lie that way to join or follow the bad example openly placed in his way. Here, in a railway carriage several persons, sometimes 50 or 60, if the carriage be a bogey one, travelled together. If gambling went on there, passengers other than gamblers could not well avoid seeing it, and being enticed, if their inclinations lay that way, to join in or follow the bad example." There is a bit of the judgment by a learned judge interwoven in the above. It is sound, absolutely sound. But how many innocent lambs were there in that race-train? How many were there who were not more or less "gamblers?" Some of their gambling goes no further than a modest flutter. But would it not have been as wise to run in the Agent and the General Manager for aiding and abetting and to have ordered the confiscation of the engine and the whole train-de-luxe along with the cards and dice-box? Why not have carried them and the forty accused up and down the line two or three times a week for a couple of months? They would have suffered no pecuniary loss while most of the forty have suffered considerably. We are very much disposed to doubt if there were two righteous men in the whole of that train the evening of the raid. The train was run for the express purpose of carrying men to the races, to gamble. When they were there they were not incited or even invited to "have a little on" we suppose. Even if they were, the race-course was not a "public place", whilst a railway carriage is. Absurd, and vexatious. The whole thing from beginning to end is a travesty. But we do not suppose there is really any cause for alarm on the part of the relatives of the unfortunate victims. We have full confidence that the High Court will call for the papers and reduce the sentences to the lowest possible level. In addition, we trust their lordships will address a few kindly words to the police officers who were attacked by the violent desire for distinction that they may hereafter devote themselves to their legitimate duties. The proper task of a police force is the prevention and detection of crime; of Railway police, the prevention of pilfering from trains and platforms and goods-yards. Seeing that the police have been so busily engaged elsewhere, we not unnaturally assumed that the number of offences at the Railway head-quarters would have increased. For the sake of testing that theory a representative of this journal asked a prominent Railway Official if such has been the case. "What?" he exclaimed, "while the Police have been engaged over the Gambling affair there hasn't been a single case of theft."

BRITON VS. TEUTON IN THE FAR EAST.

We may reasonably take the glowing accounts of the state of German Trade in the Far East, as published by German officials, with the proverbial grain of salt. At the same time it is useless to ignore the fact that the Germans are steadily gaining ground in the East and capturing trade in many quarters. The report states that British Trade in being ousted from its particular strongholds of Shanghai and Hongkong, and this unfortunately has a large amount of truth in it. John Chinaman is conservative in his methods of doing business, but he is sufficiently wide awake to take advantage of any cutting in prices which may take place in an endeavour to win his custom, an art at which the competitive Teuton is an adept. England has built up much of its trade with China because of its greater prestige. The Chinese could appreciate the calm attitude which the British exhibited in political matters, but the calmness has degenerated into slackness which is reflected in a loss of trade. At Shanghai, England, one of the three nations obtaining large concessions, has allowed its advantage to slip gradually away until the most valuable concession of the three is now under the control of an international board of which the German Consul is Chairman. The German Foreign Office has instilled into its emissaries a strong commercial spirit, this being the result. There is, therefore, every reason why British Trade in the Far East should be watched and fostered. One thing to be remembered—and it is too frequently forgotten—is that the Chinaman knows exactly what he wants and sees that he gets it. The British merchant in a comfortable office chair is of opinion that anything he cares to send is good enough for the "Heathen Chinee," wherein he gives his German rival an advantage of which he is not slow to avail himself. Our alliance with Japan once more strengthens our commercial position in these quarters, but it can only be by the most strenuous efforts that the lost trade can be regained. Few English houses of business consider it worth while to treat the Far East sufficiently seriously to organise there a regular commercial crusade. When England can be taught to take seriously to heart the fact that her supremacy, being a thing that had to be gained, is a thing to be kept by every possible effort, and only then, will her trade in foreign open ports increase instead of giving way year by year before the more up-to-date methods of other European countries.

A HEALTHY DEPARTURE.

THE Municipality of Charlottenburg in Prussia, we read in "L'Energie Française" has inaugurated a experiment. An electric tram starts every morning at seven o'clock from a point in the heart of the workmen's quarter of the town and, after several halts to pick up children who are waiting in groups for the train at different stations, it takes one hundred and twenty little boys and girls to the school which has been established in the depths of the woods half-way up the heights of the Spandau Mountain. At 8 o'clock they have arrived there and warm soup is immediately served out to the little travellers. At ten o'clock, a second breakfast, consisting of bread and butter and a cup of milk is consumed. At one, comes dinner, soup, potatoes, vegetables and meat. In the afternoon, the children drink a glass of milk, before they leave [illegible]

MANY INVENTIONS.

THE Americans should never know the delights of a postal crisis. It is not necessary with them, when correspondence exceeds all bounds, to look for an increase in the postal personnel, for they are ingenious in resource. Directly that danger threatens, they invent a machine to deal with it. A citizen recently presented the Post Office with two arrangements; one puts letters into envelops, seals and stamps them; the other is a veritable automatic poster, it takes up newspapers and documents, wraps them in a stamped band, fixes on the address, fastens them and finally puts them in the bag. When will the automatic postman be invented?

It is understood that all the principal appointments in connection with the new province of Bengal and Assam have now been settled. MOST gratifying success has attended the efforts of the Madras Agricultural Department to improve the curing of Trichy tobacco. Hitherto, this has been left entirely to the ryot-growers, the dried leaves being bought by the cheroot-making firms. A batch of medium quality green leaf has lately been cured on scientific principles under the guidance of the Department, and the result was astonishing, the value of the product being higher than anything expected.

GOVERNMENT AND THE PRINTERS' STRIKE.

REPORT OF THE ENQUIRY.

GOVERNMENT TELEGRAPH SEPOYS ABOUT TO STRIKE.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

CALCUTTA, Oct. 6.

The case against Nilmadhub Ghosal, a compositor of the Government Press, charged with criminal intimidation and wrongful restrain of other men, who disassociated themselves from the recent strike among the printers, has been fixed for hearing on the 23rd instant.

Mr. Hainy, the Under-Secretary of the Bengal Government, who is deputed by the Lieutenant-Governor to enquire into the grievances of the compositors and other workmen in the Bengal Secretariat Press, has sent in his report in which he says neither are their grievances of such urgency as to call for an immediate revision of the rules nor do they justify the action, taken by men, in endeavouring to force their demands.

Three alleged ringleaders have been dismissed and there is every indication of a fresh strike in this Press.

LATER.

The Calcutta tramway conductors are still on strike, but the trams are running with the help of the workshop employees and inspectors. Several conductors have been arrested for intimidation and will shortly be placed before the Magistrate.

Peons of the Government Telegraph office are showing signs of discontent. It seems they have been asked to pay two rupees towards the cost of new uniform, to which they demur, and it is rumoured that if deduction is insisted on they will strike.

FAMINE OUTLOOK IN RAJPUTANA.

BRIGHTER PROSPECTS ELSEWHERE.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

SIMLA, Oct, 6.

Famine outlook in Rajputana has not improved during the past week. The official telegraphic reports for the seven days ending last Saturday, to-day published, show that the numbers under relief have gone up to twenty-five thousand, Cattle emigration has recommenced in Kishangarh, but herds are returning to Marwar. Prices of food grains are much above normal, especially in Bharatpur and Karauli where a rupee will now buy nine seers less than an ordinary time.

Elsewhere throughout India the prospects are more encouraging. In United Provinces a distinct change for the better has occurred, showers during the seven days generally having improved the situation in the Meerut, Rohillkhand and Agra divisions where rain was most badly wanted. Distress is still anticipated, however, in one Tahsil of Agra district and numbers under relief in Jelaun have risen to 2,393. In the Madras Presidency the report states general improvement in prospects continues, but more rain is required.

FATAL ACCIDENT ON THE RAILWAY.

AN APPEAL BY GOVERNMENT DISMISSED.

The Hon. Mr. Justice Russell and the Hon. Mr. Justice Batty presiding at the High Court, Appellate side have disposed of an appeal by Government in a case against Manekjee Nanabhai who was charged before the D. N. Nanavati, first class Magistrate of Ahmedabad with endangering the safety of a person by disobeying a general rule made under the Indian Railways Act 9 of 1890, but was acquitted of the charge. Mr. Rustom Wadia instructed by Mr. G. B. Kele appeared; and Rao Bahadur V. J. Kirtikar Government Pleader appeared in support of the appeal by Government.

The accused was prosecuted for an offence under section 101 of the Railway Act under the sanction of the Agent, B. B. and C. I. Railway in that he was found absent from his post as engine driver on the night of the 6th August 1904 when a porter named AmbaramVithal was crushed under the engine during shunting operations at about 11-30 p.m. The accused's duty commenced that day at 5-0 p.m. and lasted till 3-30 a.m. of the 7th August: and it was alleged for the prosecution that the accused left the station compound at about 7-30 or 7-45 p.m., that day and returned at about 11-45 p.m., soon after he heard in the Circus where he was alleged to have been till that hour of the death of the porter during shunting operation in the shunting yard. In the opinion of the Magistrate the position of at least some of the witnesses for the defence was much higher than that of any of the witnesses for the prosecution and their evidence was therefore entitledto much greater weight than that of the prosecution witnesses. Mr. De Bretton the Station Master saw the accused at the water column near the engine and had some conversation with him at midnight. The Deputy Station Master, Mr. Moses, saw the accused on his engine at 11-20 p.m., on the night of the accident. A brain clerk, Purshotam also saw the accused on the engine from 9-30 p.m. till 10-45 p.m. on the night of the occurrence. After referring to the evidence of other witnesses for the defence, the Magistrate remarked that considering the position of the witnesses on the two sides and the nature of their evidence, he thought the defence side preponderated; and he therefore acquitted the accused.

Their lordships, after hearing the arguments of counsel said the evidence against the accused seemed to them to be extremely unsatisfactory. The police witnesses all said that they saw the accused at the Circus. A conversation was said to have taken place with the accused which their lordships though was improbable, because there was no definite charge made against the accused that he was at the Circus when he should have been on his engine. No attempt was made to charge him and take him to the Station Master from the Circus. There was a very Strong body of evidence for the defence to which there was no answer. It was not disputed that it was granted a shunting voucher which entitled him to get his pay for the full hours from 6 p.m. to 6 a.m. during which he was on duty shunting. The shunting voucher had not been put in evidence but it was not disputed that it was granted. It was on the strength of which the accused had been paid. [illegible] which was to examine [illegible] the charge of being absent [illegible] question.

BOMBAY MILL LABOUR.

CHANGE IN WORKING HOURS.

We noticed in a previous issue the discontent prevailing among the mill-hands of various mills in Bombay, owing to the increase in the regular working hours. The mills managed by Messrs. Sassoon J. David and Company and Messrs. Currimbhoy Ibrahim and Company have, as already reported, ceased working with the electric light. Since then the Crescent Mill, the Queen Mill, and the Keshari Mill, have adopted the same procedure, and although they still maintain the electric light installation with the use of which they had hitherto been working, at twilight, they ceased doing so from last evening. The Rehman Mill at Elphinstone Road has however, hit upon a different plan. The day workmen in this mill now attend the millat daylight and leave taking at twilight, when they are relieved by a fresh batch of labourers, who work from 6 p. m. till 3 a. m. The day workmen thus have to work for twelve hours, viz from 6 a. m. to 6 p.m., while the night men on the other hand work for nine hours only on the same wages.

MR KIPLING ON THE "ENTENTE CORDIALE."

STRIKING INTERVIEW.

The well-known French journalist, M. Jules Huret gives in the "Figaro" an account of an interview which he has recently had in Sussex with Mr. Rudyard Kipling. The conversation commenced with a reference to the "entente cordiale."

The interviewer asked, Had not the "British Empire reached the limit of its normal and possible extension?"

"Imperialism," said Mr Kipling, is nothing else than a realisation of the fact that owing to railways, swift steamers and the telegraph the distance from the metropolis to the Colonies and between the Colonies themselves has become far less considerable than it used to be. From the discovery of this simple fact the idea has sprung that it would be possible for all parts of the empire to communicate, to exchange products to sustain themselves and to defend themselves withgreater facility and efficiency than heretofore. That is all. What danger is there in that?

Imperialism has another sense, the journalist objected.

Perhaps so, Mr. Kipling replied; the word is badly chosen, and it is a new proof of the English awkwardness which so often gives to definite ideas a name which does not fit them. Imperialism, he added, is not a gospel of conquest.

M. Huret suggested that perhaps the reason was that there was nothing more for England to conquer on this planet.

BRITISH IMPERIALISM.

Save ourselves, said Mr. Kipling smiling. Imperialism is in really the administrative organisation of colonies. The new idea is to replace the prehistoric methods of the Colonial Office by a system which would keep Colonies in constant and so speak daily touch with the central Government. This has nothing in common with the Cesarian centralisation from which Central Europe suffers. English colonies are to a degree of which you have no idea, free communities of citizens who are equal with one another and I might almost say more than equal.

The interviewer asked if this sentiment of Independence could not be injured by the direct intervention of the central Powers.

No said the author because their union has been a matter of free consent and formal acceptance in the case of each Colony. It is exactly what happens in a business syndicate or in a football team. Imperialism—since we must use a word that is unfit and lacking in humour—is a doctrine of conversation. The Anglo-saxon is concerned to preserve what he has got, and to preserve it against the cupidity of those who have yet to learn what liberty is.

The journalist suggested that circumstances had changed in recent years and he probably had to do to these changes that England had decided to abandon her policy of splendid isolation.

Mr. Kipling did not answer directly. He put a question. Are you not of opinion he said that there are only two Great Powers in Europe which are really free—France and England? M. Huret agreed.

Well Mr. Kipling continued, when people have similar ideas they are well on the road to become friends.

You believe then, said the interviewer, in the sincerity and permanence of the "entente cordiale"

"Assuredly," remarked Mr Kipling "Our two nations have had so much friction all these centuries that their angles have been rounded off. The two countries have grown side by side like two trees. Their mutual inclination is towards the light and what gives me faith in the efficacy of the entente is that it in no way depends upon Governments. It has sprung from the people themselves. At least that is how it is in England.

M. Huret inquired what was the author's opinion as to the origin of the rapprochement.

Mr. Kipling said: "For a long time there existed among us a vague sentiment of fear on the subject of possible contingencies in a certain part of Europe. There Cæsarism exists and has become menacing. Against this retrograde and medieval spirit which has struggled with success against the forces of liberty there is needed the counterpoise of two great free nations England and France. Our two countries always perceived this together."

"If I understand you aright," said M. Huret, "it is imagined Germany that the Anglo-French alliance is directed."

"Well I have not yet learned officially said Mr Kipling" that any alliance exists.

"Nevertheless" M. Huret returned at the Portsmouth feres, from which I have just come the sailors did not conceal what meaning the meeting of the two fleets had for them."

Mr. Kipling replied that those were the special points of view of experts looking of the possible consequences of profitable collaboration.

"You do not imagine then," said the journalist, that a war could break out between England and Germany in which France might find itself mixed up?"

Not for a moment, rejoined the author. We would have to be driven to war in spite of ourselves.

That would not be, you think, popular in England, said M. Huret.

England is the least warlike of nations. No; we do not want war.

MEDIÆVALISM.

M. Huret pointed to the idea current in Europe as to the keen commercial rivalry between England and Germany.

With a malicious twinkle from behind his gold-rimmed glasses, Mr. Kipling said, "Young business houses always over-advertise. For 20 years one has heard of nothing but Germany; at least Germany has done nothing but talk of herself. Let us take no notice of advertising extravagances.

He continued. "Listen. All through my childhood I lived in the Colonies. Every year I am going to spend some time at the Cape. I am going there because I can see there the first chapter of Genesis alive, the world in creation, a civilisation which is being made out of fragments, I think then that I am entitled to speak as an old colonial. Well then. Although Germany sends much to the Cape and India a large proportion of this over-gilt mirrors, tinsel furniture, and cheap carpets. Even in the absence of a tariff that does not go far at present to threaten English trade. Later on, naturally, it will be possible to deal with this matter.

"Moreover," he continued, "do you think that a people can develop very far under a regime like that which exists—a mediæval regime" (he seemed to dwell on the word, which he repeated several times), "a theocratic autocracy in which God gives borders through the mouth of the monarch! More over, is it, after all, so solid as all that—that autocracy" Here he paused, as if he feared to say too much.

M. Huret asked if it were not the Emperor who had created the German Navy and subventioned the steamship lines.

Mr. Kipling replied, again in the interrogative mood which he loves: "What do you think of these recent events in Russia? Do you believe, if the Russian Empire were to break up if the Austrian Emperor were to die, that something would not also crack in the centre of Europe, as happens to a bonnet whose wheels are greasing? What about Poland? And the Socialists? But Socialism apart do you think that liberty as it is understood in France and England could be impossible in Germany?" He put the question as if he did not expect a reply. M. Huret, however, remarked that monarchy or republic, Germany would remain united Germany, a new nation, overpeopled and constrained by necessity to expand and conquer.

Mr. Kipling replied with a sceptical smile: "You really think that Germany's future would be what it is at present. Is not its appearent solidity, after all of the made in Germany order?

A HABEAS CORPUS CASE.

On the Original Side of the High Court the Hon. Justice Chandavarkar has disposed of the petition filed by Dulabh Ranchod, a goldsmith under Section 491 of the Criminal Procedure Code praying that his minor daughter Mani, aged 10, who had been illegally detained by his former wife Sonalaxmi might be restored to him. Mr. F. Sorabjee Teleyarkhan and Mr. N. N. Saher instructed by Mr. Manchersha E. Chothia appeared for the petitioner; Mr. Divan and Mr. Mahamuler instructed by Messrs. Hiralal Malvi and Modi appeared for the respondent. The matter has been reported. The Judge in disposing of the petition said that Mr. Teleyarkhan had conducted and argued the matter with great ability and the Court was obliged to him and Mr. Davar for the great assistance they had rendered in finding out the truth. The matter being of vital importance to the welfare of the minor the Court had investigated at length for three days. The question of the reputation of the parties was also involved in this inquiry, for charges of improper conduct had been mutually levelled against the former wife of the petitioner, Sona. Laxmi, his present wife Jivi and others. The Court found that Mani was taken away by Sonalaxmi during the petitioner's absence from Bombay to Bhavnagar and after that Sonalaxmi continued to detain her unlawfully. The charges of immorality made against Jivi and her husband [illegible]

THE SITUATION IN EUROPE.

RUSSIA AND JAPAN.

It was known on the 16th inst. that Japanese and Russian negotiators have agreed on the terms of the armistice in Manchuria. It will take effect to-day, and provides for a cessation of all hostile acts. A neutral zone four kilometres wide is established between the two armies. Special naval envoys are to meet near Vladivostok and establish an armistice and a neutral zone at sea. A separate armistice is to be arranged on the borders of Korea.

The armistice protocol was signed at 7 o'clock p. m. on Sept. 13, by General Oranovsky, the Russian plenipotentiary, and General Fukushima, for Japan, in an open plain near Sha-ho-tse after negotiations carried on for nine consecutive hours.

In Japan, the resignation of the Minister of the Interior, which was tendered in consequence of the Tokio riots, has been accepted, and the Minister of Agriculture has been appointed his successor.

Mr. Dennison, the legal adviser of the Japanese Foreign Office, in an interview published in the "New York Times," has expressed the opinion that the concessions gained by Japan are worth far more than the indemnity originally demanded.

New York, Sept. 18 ('Times")—Baron Komura is much better to-day, and it is expected that he will be able to sail for Japan on Oct. 2.

Mr Takahira is also going to Japan in a few weeks, ostensibly on a vacation, but diplomatists at Washington do not expect him to return to this country. The effects of the operation for appendicitis which he underwent some months ago still trouble him and the strain of the Portsmouth Conference told on him really.

Oyster Bay, Sept. 18 ("Reuter")—Mr. Roosevelt has received a telegram from Mr. Taft in Tokio conveying to the President the assurances given to Mr. Taft personally by the Japanese Government that the recent riots in Japan were not an anti-American demonstration. The telegram adds that the feeling has subsided and that the members of the party have not been subjected to the least indignity. Mr. Taft expresses confidence in the abiding nature of Japan's friendship for the United States.

Paris, Sept. 20.—The correspondent of the "Journal" in Tokio, telegraphing under yesterday's date, states that the ratification and publication of the treaty of peace will take place on Oct. 7. Up to the present the Government has made no communication of any kind to the country respecting the treaty.

M. WITTE.

Cherbourg Sept. 18 ("Reuter").—M. Witte arrived here at half-past seven this evening on board the Kaiser Wilhelm der Gro se after a somewhat stormy passage. He was warmly cheered and cries of "Vive la Russie!" were also heard. Mme. Witte, her daughter, and her son-in-law were present on the quay.

The "Standard" correspondent telegraphed from Cherbourg:—The treaty signed at Portsmouth will be in the Czar's hands at Peterhof on Friday. The members of the Russian delegation headed by M. Serguis Witte, arrived to-day in the Kaiser Wilhelm II. M. Pilenon, the secretary of the Russian Foreign Office carrying the treaty in a small leather bag disembarked at Plymouth, with M. Constantine, Nabokoff, another secretary. All official Russian dispatches go overland by way of Plymouth to London, thence to Ostend, instead of via Cherbourg.

M. Witte with the remainder of the suit, proceeded to Cherbourg and Paris. He was disgusted with his voyage, during which he experienced constant rain, strong winds, and two days of fog. He is a bad sailor, and was compelled to miss many meals. He began the voyage in a state of practical collapse from the nervous strain of the Portsmouth proceedings and the gaieties following their conclusion. He mixed very little with the passengers, and displayed the greatest taciturnity. His secretary, M. Kostovetz, explains it is the same M. Witte lived in Portsmouth in the same hotel with 70 journalists. The Government had put him on an island, and he could not get away. He now hates the sight of a journalist. He found them outside his bedroom in the morning he found them at the barber's shop, in the dining-room, and even disguised as chauffeurs. The only people to whom he now cares to talk are members of his family and the Czar."

Paris, Sept. 19.—M. Jules Hedeman, the special correspondent of the "Matin" at Port-mouth, U.S.A., who has returned to Europe in the same ship as M. Witte, gives some particulars of statements made to him by the latter in the course of frequent conversations on board. According to M. Witte, the private discussions which took place during the Conference between the plenipotentiaries always turned upon the question of the indemnity. "We always returned to that subject," said M. Witte.

"Of the seven protocols devoted to the Portsmouth Conference to deal with the demand for an indemnity, Article first Mr. Roosevelt advised me to accept the Japanese proposal regarding the repurchase of Sakhalin. Later on he changed his opinion and found that I was right. One evening we had left the hall in which the Conference was held, quite believing that there was nothing more to be done. In session to be all over, as we were obliged to recognise the existence of complete disagreement on four of the 12 conditions. During the night Mr. Peirce, the Assistant Secretary at the State Department, came to the hotel with a confidential message from the President, begging me to agree to the reimbursement of Japan. I caused a reply to be sent, saying it was impossible for me to do so."

M. Witte went on to say that a few days afterwards, Mr. Roosevelt proposed to Baron Rosen, the Russian Ambassador at Washington, a sum sufficient to satisfy the Japanese, but this proposal was likewise refused, as was also a subsequent one, in which the President advised M. Witte to accept the principle of repurchase at a price to be fixed by arbitration. In reply to the last suggestion M. Witte said that the Japanese were determined not to yield on the question of indemnity. It was after the receipt of that reply that Mr. Roosevelt appealed directly to the Czar and secured the cession of half of Sakhalin.

M. Witte explained the sudden change in the Japanese attitude as being due to the fact that President Roosevelt informed Baron Kaneko that Japan could no longer reckon upon American support if she persisted in continuing the war for the mere sake of money. Baron Kaneko telegraphed to Japan at once. The Mikado's Government, alarmed at that prospect, suddenly changed its attitude. It was high time.

Wednesday's "Temps" prints a report of an interview M. Villiers its diplomatic correspondent had with M. Witte, from which the following extracts may be cited.

"The value of a treaty depends upon those by whom it is applied. If the treaty of Portsmouth is loyally carried out on both sides, without arrière-pensee or trickery, I am convinced that it will regulate peacefully the relations between the countries of yesterday. On the part of Russia, everything admits of its being affirmed that the loyalty will be thoroughly observed."

"I think the peace will be a lasting one, if it is honestly and fairly carried out on both sides. Russia will act with perfect good faith, and will keep her engagements to the letter. The Japanese Government, which is strong will persuade Japanese public opinion to approve the treaty, and so the good faith will be mutual."

Further on M. Witte remarked:—"I do not believe that anything will be changed by peace in the general policy of my country. You say that in France there is an impression that a Russo-German "rapprochement" exists. How can you suppose that there should be such a rapprochement? During the whole war the Emperor William was more than correct towards Russia; he was quite nice (tout a fait gentil). At every opportunity he proved his desire to occasion us no embarrassment, to help us even as far as in his power, and to save us from all complications. When one is in trouble one is appreciative of kindness. That was our case. On the other hand, I tell you frankly that for the last 18 months the attitude of a portion of French public opinion made us disagreeable impression on us, particularly after the series of Franco-Russian manifestations which had been indulged in at every opportunity and even without there being an opportunity. Yes I repeat that the essence of Franco-Russian relations has not changed. Nor do I say that the sympathy between the two countries has been diminished. I only point out that the sympathy between Russia and Germany has increased. When one of two thing increases and the other remains stationary, one fancies that the second diminishes, but that is not the case. The comparison explains my idea as to the impression produced. All things duly considered the Franco-Russian Alliance remains in conformity with the interests of the two peoples. Nothing has been changed in that alliance, and nothing must be changed in it. This is my sincere opinion."

CHINESE RAILWAY POLICY.

Oyster Bay, Sept. (Reuter)—Wang Ta-seih, a member of the Chinese Wai-wu-pu (Ministry of Foreign Affairs) accompanied by Liang-cheng, the Chinese Minister at Washington, called yesterday on President Roosevelt and paid his respects. Wang Ta-seih was to have taken part in peace conference on behalf of China if the Russians and Japanese had consented.

Liang-cheng told newspaper correspondents that the construction was being planned under Chinese auspices of a railway trunk line which would traverse the three central provinces of China, running from Canton-Han kau railway to Pekin. The Canton-Han kau railway which had recently been surrendered to China by the Americans, would from be southern part of the trunk line.

New York, Sept. 19.—The "Times" quotes Liang-cheng as saying that China will ignore the claims of the Belgian syndicate to the Canton-Han-kau railway concession, but before long will endeavour to obtain control of the northern half of the Canton-Pekin line from Han-kau to Pekin. The Belgians claimed that the Canton-Han-kau concession reverted to them when the Americans gave it up.

The Chinese Minister, Sir Chen-tung Liang cheng, visited the President yesterday and discussed the railway question. Afterwards he spoke to newspaper men of China's realisation of her new national ideals and said that one of the first steps towards this end would be the construction of a great trunk railway line which should traverse the central and most fertile provinces of China.

A Reuter" telegram from St. Petersburg date Sept. 21 says:—M. Plancon, one of the Russian secretaries at the Portsmouth Conference arrived here to-day from Washington bearing the Russo-Japanese treaty of peace. The document will be submitted to the Emperor to-morrow.

A telegram from Tokio, through the same agency states:—Expressions of dissatisfaction with the peace terms in the columns of the papers are dwindling. Since the issue of the imperial ordinance authorising the suppression of newspaper for the publication of articles endangering the maintenance of order, nine Tokio and six provincial papers have been suspended. Five of these papers have reappeared [illegible]

ENGLISH POLITICAL AND SOCIAL LETTER.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

LONDON, Sept. 22.

LORD CURZON'S RESIGNATION.

Although the brilliant and in every way successful review of Scottish Volunteers by his Majesty has almost monopolised public attention this week, the situation in India is still the subject of a good deal of talk, though Sir Alfred Lyall's letter has not so far been followed up by other experts. Perhaps they think the time for protest is past. It is curious to notice what a stronghold that piece of fiction about a retiring Viceroy of India being obliged by etiquette to leave the country before his successor arrives has got in the English papers at Home. Innumerable paragraphs on the subject have appeared in the "London Letters" of the provincial Press who were first misled, I believe, by a usually fairly accurate London evening paper, and in a leading article appearing in a Glasgow journal three days ago I read:—"The custom always observed in the past has been for the home-coming Viceroy to leave India shortly before his successor sets out from this country." This by the way is a variation. Previously we were merely told that it was the invariable rule for the outgoing Viceroy to leave before the incoming Viceroy actually reached the shores of India. The Glasgow paper goes on to say:—"So far, however, no definite step has been taken by Lord Curzon in connection with his return to Britain. Indeed, he is credited with an intention to remain in India till the arrival of the Prince and Princess of Wales, in order to welcome them when they set foot on the shores of our great dependency. To do this would be to seriously interfere with the usual forms and observances by which a Royal visit to India or elsewhere is attended. It would, besides, place Lord Minto in a very difficult, if not even an unpleasant, position. Were the home-coming Viceroy other than Lord Curzon, the story with regard to his intention of delaying his return till after the arrival of the Prince and Princess might be safely dismissed as a mere idle, canard." Then we are treated to some rubbish about Lord Curzon's political future and the sapient Glaswegian concludes,—"Meanwhile, the immediate point with

NEW HAGUE CONFERENCE

At "Reuter's" telegram from Oyster Bay, dated Sept. 27 says:—It is learned that at a conference last night between President Roosevelt and certain prominent politicians now here, the principal International question discussed was that regarding the proposed second peace conference at The Hague. The President explained to his visitors that on Sept. 13, Baron de Rosen called upon him for the purpose of informing him of the desire of the Emperor Nicholas for the summoning of a second peace conference at The Hague which should be supplemental in its work to the first conference held there on his Majesty's initiative. Baron de Rosen's visit had also for object to ascertain whether President Roosevelt was quite willing to waive any claim, he might have to calling a conference in view of the initial steps which he took last year so that the Czar might issue the summons himself. President Roosevelt expressed himself as delighted to yield to the wish of the Russian Emperor and Baron de Rosen has already informally made known the President's acquiescence to the Czar. A formal reply to the Emperor will be sent by the President through Mr. Root, Secretary of State. The reply was discussed at the conference last night, but it was not definitely drawn up. It will probably be forwarded to St. Petersburg soon after Mr. Root reaches Washington about Oct. 1.

THE MOROCCO QUESTIONS.

THE NEGOTIATIONS AT PARIS.

The able and intelligent correspondent of the "Times" at Paris, has throughout the past week continued to take a somewhat pessimistic view of the progress of the negotiations still being carried on between De von Rosen and M. de Revoil. On Sunday he noted that the negotiations are not proceeding so rapidly as might have been expected, and nothing final is anticipated before the latter end of this week. Germany is evidently in no hurry, as she can negotiate to better advantage with France alone than in a Conference in which she will certainly be in a minority. The Paris "Temps" of Tuesday evening contained an article complaining strongly of German procrastination in the negotiations.

The "Temps" said:—"It would apparently be unfair to divide equally between Paris and Berlin the responsibility for this delay. During these negotiations, which Germany took the initiative in demanding, France has not only been the more expeditious, she has been more conciliatory. We were asked before anything else to accept the Conference. By the agreement of July 8 we gave that proof of our loyalty. We were then asked to define our views as to the programme of the said Conference. As long ago as July 20 M. Rouvier gave Prince Radolin explanations supplementary to a summary memorandum which was completed on Aug. 1 by the transmission of detailed particulars of our proposals. Now it was only on Aug. 21 that Germany communicated her counter-proposals, followed by other criticisms, without positively meeting our programme with a counter project. Then Dr. Rosen arrived in Paris and the whole discussion was resumed verbally. Now they have telegraphed to Tangier, which would seem to prove that an agreement is not imminent. It must be confessed that the spinning out of this dialogue is in contradiction to the assurances lavished last June by the official and semi-official representatives of Germany, when, in order to induce us to adhere to the principle of the Conference, they said, 'Accept it; you will afterwards see how little Morocco interests us and what useful friends we shall be for you.' Never since then have the deeds of Germany justified that assurance. There has been an abundance of fine phrases, but in reality there has been no hurry to give us satisfaction. . . .

"In the Moroccan affair from the very beginning there have been two elements—one special and purely local the other general and having a European character. Without going back on the past it may be recalled that Germany has always attached as much importance to the latter as to the former. That is precisely why she should now follow more carefully the state of French opinion. That opinion which after a brief period of agitation soon calmed down again, would not have approved an uncompromising policy that would unnecessarily have transformed a colonial question into a European complication; but it is still more resolved not to permit that colonial problem to become for four country a source of humiliation. It feels that we have agreed to the concessions which we were called upon to make in the transaction. It would like to feel sure that we shall get our due in return. In any case it would not agree that everything should be demanded of us and that we should get nothing in exchange. French opinion is not systematically hostile to any foreign Power but on the other hand it would not tolerate on the part of any Power behaviour at variance with the dignity of France. For it thoroughly realises that the maintenance of national dignity is necessary for the security of a nation and it has recovered by the force of events, a unity and cohesion of which it was unjustly believed to be incapable.

On Monday the Times correspondent stated that the bill which had occurred in the Franco-German negotiations affected the Bourse somewhat unfavourably. It is not difficult to discern a firm resolve on the part of the French people not allow themselves to be any longer browbeaten with impunity. There is no trace of any defiant spirit, but any attempt on the part of Germany at intimidation would fail in its object. Similar views were expressed in an article published in the Figaro.

THE STATE OF RUSSIA.

THE SITUATION AT BAKU.

Tiflis, Sept. 15 (Reuter).—The Viceroy has issued a long proclamation to the inhabitants of the Caucasus on the subject of recent events there. He describes the subversive work of secret societies and groups who are striving to change the existing State organisation by illegal strife. His Excellency points out the disastrous consequence of this propaganda, which is misleading the peasants and workmen and bringing them to ruin and causing them to have recourse to pillage instead of engaging in peaceful avocations. The formerly flourishing trade of Baku has perished, and the works have stopped or have been partly transferred abroad. The proclamation refers to the importance of the organisation of the State Duma, which will remove the raison d'etre of secret societies and calls upon the population to assist and co-operative in the pacification of the country.

St. Petersburg Sept. 17 (Times).—The situation at Baku has again assumed a highly critical phase. The feeling between Tartars and Armenians is so tense that the slightest incident may provoke a repetition of the massacres. The Tartars, in order to starve the Armenians, refuse to open their shops. Many of the latter are reported to have died from eating poisoned fruit. The situation will remain critical till the arrival of strong reinforcements—15,000 troops are expected on Tuesday. Till then no work will be done on the oilfields. The Viceroy himself is going to Baku. The Tartars and Armenians persist in laying the blame for the recent outrages upon one another, but curiously enough all the Mussulman property on the oilfields was found intact, whereas the Armenian property has all been destroyed. The Russians suffered less heavily and foreigners still less.

The Czar has ordered a conference to be held to inquire and report on all the facts of the Baku disturbances.

A Reuter telegram from Odessa says the situation at Batoum is very alarming and the authorities are expecting an outbreak and massacre similar to those at Baku.

St. Petersburg Sept. 19 (Reuter).—According to the latest advices from Baku, the town is now divided into two quite distinct camps, the Armenians holding the centre of the town as far as the railway, while the Tartars principally occupy the suburbs. There are constant raids on either side, many being killed and wounded, chiefly with daggers and knives. The inhabitants who dare not leave their houses are escorted by soldiers. The Governor is distributing free railway tickets and large numbers of workmen are leaving the district, Sixteen derricks the property of the Viceroy, were destroyed yesterday.

St. Petersburg Sept. 20 "(Times)."—The newspapers all refer to the interview which a correspondent of the "Times" recently had with the Governor General of Baku but not a single voice is heard in condemnation of General Faceieff's statement that the troubles are attributable chiefly to Armenians. On the contrary the weight of evidence and opinion is all the other way. The Russ publishes a long article denouncing the growth of the anti-Armenian movement among the Tartars and Russians officials, to which it ascribes the origin of the Armenian revolutionary committees.

Sept. 20.—The Czar threatens to place the whole of Finland under martial law if political assassinations continue in the Grand Duchy. Such an attitude is, unfortunately, calculated only to widen the breach between the ruler and the people, who are already incensed by the violation of their constitutional rights. The Czar, however, holds very pronounced views regarding his prerogatives as Grand Duke of Finland and thinks it his bounden duty to exercise stern repression of political crimes. His bitterness against Finland is intensified by the case of the John Grafton, the real facts of which are still unpublished.

The approach of the elections to the Duma says the "Times" correspondent at St. Petersburg, has brought the expected concessions as regards the right of meeting. The Zemstvo Congress has been authorised to meet in Moscow on Sept. 25 in order to discuss the electoral programme, provided it keeps strictly to that subject. The Press is agitating for the extension of the suffrage to the intellectual class. It is pointed out that the great majority of the university professors cannot qualify for a vote or for election.

The House was prorogued by Royal decree until October 10.

Holland.—The session of the States General was opened on Tuesday, at the Hague.

Italy.—There were fresh shocks of earthquake last week, in Calabria and Eastern Sicily.—The German Emperor has sent 10 000 lire (£400) for the relief of the sufferers.

Japan.—Count Katsura the Premier, has addressed the provincial governors assembled in Tokio urging them to co-operate in the measures needed to develop the national energies after the war, and to look moderate action to maintain public order in their respective localities.—A commercial union is being formed in Japan with the object of promoting Japanese commerce and industry in Korea and China.—The public accounts for the year ended March last, show a surplus of £5 000 000, arising from administrative economies and growth of revenue.—The resignation of the Minister of the Interior, which was tendered in consequence of the Tokio loan has been accepted, and the Minister of Agriculture has been appointed his successor.

Norway and Sweden.—It was reported some days ago that a basis of understanding had been arrived at. This was that a stipulation for a treaty of arbitration should form part of the agreement for the demolition of the Norwegian frontier fortifications. When Monday's sitting of the conference broke up, however no date was fixed for the next sitting. Our Correspondent subsequently telegraphed that this temporary suspension had led to unfounded rumours of a check to the negotiations and of a breakdown of the understanding arrived at. Semi-official statements in correction of these stories had been issued by both delegations. There was every hope that a final agreement would be attained before long.

Russia.—A St. Petersburg Correspondent says that the initiative in convoking a second Hague Conference will be taken by the Tsar. The election prospects are becoming distinctly brighter. Poland obtains additional representatives placing it on the same level as the Russian provinces; and a Ukase granting freedom of meeting, of speech, and of the Press, and immunity from undue arrest will shortly be promulgated. A Reuter despatch from Odessa however says that of 7 000 local voters for the Duma only a small number have up to the present declared their wish to participate in the elections. News from Kiff and other places reports similar apathy on the part of the electors.—A St. Petersburg Correspondent says that the Tsar threatens to place the whole of Finland under martial law if political assassinations continue in the Grand Duchy.—The Tsar has ordered a conference to be held to inquire and report on all the facts of the Baku disturbances. A Correspondent at Shusha gives a detailed account of the five days' fighting between Tartars and Armenians which occurred at that place in the beginning of September.

The Morocco Question.—The negotiations between France and Germany have not lately, it is believed, been making favourable progress. Our Paris Correspondent on Tuesday stated that all that could be stated with confidence was that they had not been broken off.—In a subsequent message our Correspondent says that whatever may be the issue of the Franco-German negotiations concerning Morocco, the fashion in which they have been conducted has caused much mischief by reviving a current of popular sentiment against Germany, which the Government itself is powerless to check.

The Peace.—M. Witte has expressed to a member of the staff of the Paris "Temps" his opinion that if the Treaty of Portsmouth be loyally carried out on both sides it will regulate peacefully the relations between Japan and Russia.—The Japanese and Russian negotiators have agreed on the terms of the armistice in Manchuria. It was to take effect on Saturday last, and provides for a cessation of all hostile acts. A neutral zone four kilometres wide is established between the two armies. Special naval envoys are to meet near Vladivostok and establish an armistice and a neutral zone at sea. A separate armistice is to be arranged on the borders of Korea.

Court and Personal.—Princess Marie Isabelle, Duchesse de Guise, was injured last week by being thrown from her horse whilst riding in Worcestershire.

Ecclesiastical.—The Rev. W. MacCarthy, vicar of All Saints' Gainsborough, has been appointed Bishop Suffragan of Grantham.

Naval and Military.—The King has accepted the resignation by Major-General Sir R. Pole-Carew of his command of the troops in the South of Ireland. The States of Jersey have authorized a committee to accept the amendments to the Militia Bill insisted upon by the Army Council.

Shipping.—The Japanese Minister in London has stated that the armistice provides that maritime captures shall not be suspended.

The British Association.—The members of the Association had a cordial welcome at Salisbury, Rhodesia, on Friday. A section of the members paid a visit on Saturday to Umtali, on their way to Beira. They were hospitably entertained, and a deputation of Portuguese, headed by the secretary of the Governor of Mozambique, joined in the welcome. The members of the Association arrived on Monday morning at Beira, and after being entertained at lunch by the Governor of Portuguese East Africa, embarked on board the liner Durham Castle for England.

The Turf.—At the Doncaster Meeting, last week, the race for the Cup was won by the favourite Mr. Sol Joel's Bachelor's Button.—"Times."

LONDON, SEPT. 22.

MAKING AMENDS.

THE blunder which is said to have been commited at the Military manœuvres now in progress under Sir John French is one of those regrettable incidents to which we had to harden ourselves during the Boer war But our army is not the only one to blunder. During manœuvres at which Frederick the Great was present, and ensign committed a mistake, which so enraged the King that he made for the delinquent, stick in hand, intending publicly to chastise him. The ensign fled the King in full cry after him. The fugitive leapt a stream. This his Sovereign couldnot negotiate, but stood foaming and brandishing his cudgel. Later the colonel of the regiment approached the King, saying "Sire I have just received the young ensign's resignation; I am sorry, for he was a fine soldier." "Send him to me" said Frederick. The man was brought to him in sore fear this time expecting the worst. Here Sir said the monarch is your captaincy which I tried to give you this morning; but you ran away so quickly that I could not catch you."

THE WHITE KNIGHT.

The predicament of the Bishop of Llandaff in having to preach without his episcopal vestments recalls the plight of Dean Stanley, who one day ascended the pulpit at Westminster Abbey non-minus vestments, but with something else added. In the hat which he had worn had been his gloves, and one of the latter had remained upon his head. He did not notice it: the Dean was notoriously absent-minded. "I feel cold," he said to a friend as, in an open trap they drove along the road from Monreale to Palermo. "Well you had better put something extra," replied his friend, and went on reading. Just as they entered Palermo he glanced at Stanley, and found him robed in white. He had put on his night-shirt over his clothes.

TURNING THE TABLES.

If all which we are now told be correct a serious trick has been played upon Mr. Roosevelt by a Paris journalist, who interviewed him earlier in the week. This is a turning of the tables with a vengeance. As a rule it is the visitor who is victimised by the American interviewer It does not matter whether you see him or not, the result is the same—out comes the interview. They made one distinguished English minister of religion plump for lynching; and an English journalist who barely opened his mouth they made to speak several columns. More daring, however, was the liberty they took with Mr. Auberon Herbert now Baron Lucas and Dingwall. They made him declare that he left America in disgust; compare New York hearts to New York rocks and swear he would never return. They heaped up the magnificence of his ancestral estates in England his wealth and his Oxford associations and finally they described him as occupying the most expensive suite of rooms in his New York hotel the said suite being the modest bed-room.

A VALUABLE LIFE.

The American insurance scandals are letting us into secrets as to the way they do business on the other side of the water. It would be interesting to know how the large policy-holders in the companies concerned regard the state of affairs. The organisation mainly affected assets that every policy of more than £250,000 has with one exception, been issued by itself. Mr. Wanamaker of Philadelphia is insured with it for £500,000, while Mr. G. W. Vanderbilt is one of four men each holding a £250,000 policy. These are men whom the companies may well hope to see long in the land of the living as did a relative of O'Connell, who after challenging the lawyer to fight a duel found that he held a valuable portion of his lands under lease for the term of O'Connell's life. Under these circumstances, he decared he could not afford to shoot him, unless O'Connell would first insure his life. The duel did not take place.

DEATH FROM DEATH.

To be shot dead by a man who is falling down a precipice to his own doom conjures up a situation which seems properly to belong to the penny dreadful but it has happened in Switzerland. As weird things occurred in the Boer war Cases were recorded of men losing their lives through bullets fired by the contracting fingers of men who, dead in the act of aiming. Just strange however was the fate of an aged man in Liverpool whose wife fell dead upon him as they were ascending stairs and pinioned him for three days. He was found just alive, but died on being removed. Another case of a human body becoming a missile was that in which man was killed by a train which flung the corpse on to the platform where it struck a passenger and broke his thigh.

TESTS AND PROOFS.

Able pens have been busy lately over the question as to what tests may be most fittingly applied in the case of a man whose sobriety is impugned. The ordeal out of which the discussion arose was less severe than some others in existence. Of physical exercises that which they employ at Westminster would be hard to bear. The suspect is made to close his eyes, then walk across the floor of the police station and back again. If he survive that, he may escape. Some men however, lose command of their legs though heads remain clear; while with others, the brain may be fogged and the tongue twisted, while the legs continue steady. In the latter case the surgeon has to decide, in the words of an expert, whether a man has drunk sufficient to impair his judgement. The innocent may at times be misjudged. Once the late Primate stated: I have never been drunk in my life, and a Devonshire paper immediately came out with a headline Remarkable Statement by the Bishop of Exeter What was in the sub-editor's mind is not obvious.

BLAMING THE SAINT.

There is a certain dour crabbedness about the drunkard which expresses itself in the most startling fashion. Take the case of the man whom Sir Horace St. Paul lectured upon his condition. You are a drunk that you don't even known who I am said Sir Horace. Oh, yes. I do, hiccoughed the other, you're the Johnny that wrote an epistle to a chap named Timothy, and never got an answer. Equally unexpected was the reply of the impenitent sinner to whom the priest told the frightful story of a woman in the parish having been burnt to death by the candle setting fire to her clothes which, when drunk, she endeavoured to blow out. That'll be a lesson to me, was the reply. I'll never blow a candle out again the longest day I live. It is greatly to be feared that there was no greater recognition of responsibility in the woman who was locked up, intoxicated, on the night of St. Patrick's Day. In her cell they heard her moaning, "Oh, blessed and howly St. Pathrick, see what I'm suffering for ye this night.

A BRITON FOR SWEDEN.

The promised happy issue of Sweden and Norway out of their difficulties has been won without aid from England. Such mediation might not have been unnatural, seeing that the day will come when the Swedes will have an Englishwoman for their Queen Consort. It would not have been the first time in which British intervention has been sought in Swedish affairs. Prior to the deposition of Gustaf Adolf IV., it was to Spencer Perceval and Canning that they turned for aid The appeal would have created more excitement in England had it been known at the time that the statesmen of Sweden were anxious to put a Royal Prince of Britain on the throne. Those whom we called our Saxon forefathers they said were really Goths or Belgic Gauls men who had carried from the forests of Sweden those institutions which had made us a mighty nation. They would have a Briton for their King. The Duke of Gloucester should be elected Crown Prince to succeed the Duke of Sodermanland as king.

TAMING THE BRUTE.

It would be hardly safe to try the experiment of putting a bullet through the brain of asylum patients, or throwing them on to the railway. But, accidentally, cures have been effected in that manner. A female lunatic recovered possession of her mental faculties when a pistol exploded and the bullet penetrated her brain. Nearer at hand—at Earlswood Asylum—there was a not less remarkable instance. A lunatic escaped when the railway company was building a tunnel near the asylum. A passing train knocked him down. With physical healing came also restoration of the brain, and the man left the hospital sound in mind and body. But these are lessons too deep for us to ponder. The best that the layman may hope to do is to emulate a former Countess of Devon, who suddenly found the door of a room shut behind her by a servant who had suddenly gone mad. Now you must say your prayers she said for I have a commission from heaven to kill you. Oh, but you dare not do that for here is a reprieve said the lady at the same time holding up a white table napkin. It saved her life; the woman gave in at once.

OILING THE DEEP.

From the conversion of certain wharves for the purpose of storage for oil fuel the Admiralty evidently is more and more to put its trust in this rival of coal. But there is a use for oil at sea which should be generally suspected, but is not. To pour oil upon the troubled waters is a proverbial feat. Few people however imagine that it is actually carried out under Admiralty instructions. It is recommended that the oil be dropped overboard in small perforated canvas bags capable of holding from one to two gallons, each bag depending from a line whose position differs according to the strength of the sea and direction of the wind. Running before the wind you hang out your oil-bags from either bow; crossing a bar with a flood tide the oil is sent on ahead For boarding a wreck oil is thrown to windward of her. The utility of the plan has been amply demonstrated, it seems; but then it depends on the oil Waste from the engines seems to be the best though all animal and vegetable oils will serve.

TREES FROM THE GUN.

Napoleon the Third cut down trees when he was making his wide boulevards which he meant to sweep with grape shot should danger ever threaten Now that the Bois de Boulogne with all its trees is threatened, it is interesting to recollect that havoc made to aid Napoleon's cannonmay be repaired by the same agency. The Duke of Atholl of an earlier day had upon his estate a bare patch near Dunkeld. He desired to see Craigbarns clothed with verdure but nobody could scale the precipitous height to set the seed. He called Alexander Nasmyth to his aid. Nasmyth noticed a couple of ornamental cannon at the house, These he wheeled into position crammed tin canisters with all manner of desirable seeds of trees, then fired at the craig. The canisters burst and the seed scattered into every crevice of the rock. Fine trees have come into being from those seeds fired thither by Nasmyth.

Worry and Anxiety

almost inevitably lead to a weakened and impoverished condition of the nervous systems These are forms of mental and nervous fatigue, and indicate that the nervous system is unequal to the demands made upon it by business responsibilities, social obligations, or professional duties. Such feelings give urgent and emphatic warning that the entire nervous system has become enfeebled, either as a consequence of nervous overstrain or owing to imperfect nutrition, resulting from physical illness or disorder.

Nervous Debility

of which worry and anxiety are such distressing symptoms, demands special treatment the nature of which is easily understood. If the body be weak it shows that fitting nourishment is required, and the same is equally true if the nervous system be weakened. It needs proper nutrition.

But how seldom the exhausted nervous system receives the right treatment. In many cases stimulants are resorted to, which give merely fictitious and temporary strength to the nerves, but actually leave them more weakened and worn out than before. If the nervous system be exhausted it really requires a remedy that will assist the nervous system to assimilate nourishment from the ordinary food, and will at the same time supply the vital nerve elements which are lost under the strain of overwork. Such a remedy is found in

Bishop's Tonules

A Nerve Nutrient not a Stimulant.

Bishop's Tonules are a thoroughly scientific preparation, free from harmful drugs and act directly upon the nerves, improving their nutrition, building up the worn away tissues, and restoring the impoverished nervous system to full health and vigour.

To understand how and why Bishop's Tonules do this it must be borne in mind that in nervous disorders generally the nerve and brain substance is worn away faster than it can be replaced. The nerves also lack the power to extract from the food taken the elements which they have lost, and until they can do this there can be no improvement in their exhausted condition.

The principal of these nervous disorders are as follows: Nervous and General Debility or Impaired Vitality, indicated by Lassitude, Fatigue, Want of Mental and Physical Energy, Weakened Will Power, Inability for Sustained Mental Effort, Irritability and Brain Fag, Nervous Exhaustion, Indecision and Lack of Confidence and "Pluck," Mental Depression, Worry and Anxiety, Forebodings, Morbidity and Melancholy, Neurasthenia, or a worn-out condition of the Nervous System generally, characterised by Headache, Vertigo, Muscular and Nervous Prostration, and Diminished Mental Powers.

There is no pretence that Bishop's Tonules do anything magical or extraordinary They simply supply those elements that are lacking, and supply them in such a form that they can be taken up easily and naturally by the nerves. Hence it is only reasonable to expect nerve restoration where they are used.

Obviously this takes time, just as an ill-nourished body cannot be built up in a day; but the result of a continued course of treatment by Bishop's Tonules will be the restoration of the nervous system to perfect health and strength.

The effects of the Tonule treatment may not be apparent immediately, but after a short time there is an improvement in the appetite, the assimilation of food is promoted, the liver stimulated, and the flow of bile increased. The various organs of the body all show improved activity and the building up of the tissues is hastened. The eyes grow brighter and the complexion more healthy. There is a tendency for thin subjects to gain flesh, while soft and flabby flesh becomes firm. In addition to all these evidences of the power of Bishop's Tonules, the symptoms of nervous debility and exhaustion gradually disappear, and it is only a question of time as to how long it will take for the whole nervous system to be restored to full strength.

Bishop's Tonules

A Fortnight's Treatment 2/9.

A letter has just been received from a gentleman in Hampshire in the following terms:—"I have now gone through a fortnight's course of Bishop's Tonules with great benefit. I was suffering from nevousness and depression, and these have almost disappeared, especially the latter. I took one Tonule with each of my three meals."

Bishop's Tonules are supplied in vials containing a fortnight's treatment, made by Alfred Bishop (Limited), Spelman-street, Mile End New Town, London, supplies may be obtained from your chemist or drug store for 2s. 9d. Alfred Bishop (Limited) are Manufacturing Chemists only, and have but one address.

Note There are two points we wish especially to emphasise. One is that it is supremely unwise to delay commencing the treatment with Bishop's Tonules if you recognise that you are suffering from nervous overstrain or nervous or brain exhaustion. Your condition will become worse, and you may have a serious breakdown as a result of your neglect. The other point is that Alfred Bishop are always pleased to give information to any requiring it.

A SOLVED QUESTION.

THE QUESTION now-a-days among Smokers is, Why should Vafiadis' Cigarettes be s largely distributed?

The answer is not far to seek.

It is because Vafiadis having had a life-long experience in Tobacco knows what is suitable for this peculiar climate of India, and it also is because their only intention is to satisfy their thousands of Customers by guaranteeing a new consignment of their Cigarettes every fourteen days.

To th above facts it is due that their Cigarettes are so highly praised and smoked by the throng, and are pronounced by connoisseurs to be superior to all others.

Liqueur Exquisite, Tonic, Digestive and Efficacious

BENEDICTINE

Possessing most Powerful Germ-killing Properties.

The BENEDICTINE liqueur is beneficial to health owing to its spirituous foundation being composed only of eau-de-vie (brandies) of the very purest quality.

Its principal characteristics may be summed up as follows:—

Distinctness of taste, richness of flavour and a delicious bouquet improving with age.

Moreover, the fact has never been disputed, that when diluted with cold water, the liqueur is possessed of great ANTIAPOPLECTIC (against apoplexy, sudden loss of sense and voluntary motions), APERIENT (slow purgative), DIGESTIVE and ANTISPASMODIC (against convulsions, qualities). REFRESHES and STRENGTHENS the nervous and tired brain marvellously, and works as a perfect boon to invalids and a blessing combined with luxury to mankind.

Many celebrated doctors and literary men both in France and other countries have given he liqueur the brilliant testimony of their appreciation, as may be seen by the following letters:—

* * * Those of my readers who have confidence in my culinary recommendations, and I trust they are many, will do well to note that I prefer BENEDICTINE to all other liqueurs.

ALEXANDER DUMAS.

* * * * At a time when the luxuries of the table are sought after on all sides, I do not hesitate to acknowledge and recommend BENEDICTINE as the queen of liqueurs, now to be seen on any table. It is found and appreciated alike in restaurants, in private families, and on the tables of princes.

H. DE PENE.

* * * * We place BENEDICTINE upon our tables for its excellent flavour and delicate perfume, without thinking that this dainty is a powerful specific, a liqueur most efficacious for promoting digestion and the regular circulation of the blood.

TIMOTHEE TRIMM.

LIQUEUR BENEDICTINE.—Among the liqueurs invented or manufactured by the monks of France, the Benedictine from a hygienic point of view occupies the foremost rank. It is not only an exquisite and savory beverage for persons in good health, but in cases of illness or recovery it is equally beneficial. It may be used to advantage in all cases where Malaga, Madeira, Sherry, &c., are recommended.

The Benedictine is remarkable for its agreeable taste, and for its really salutary effects as a stomachic; and it is principally on this account that the liqueur should bear the motto "Moritur qui non utitur."

Extract from the "Gazette Medicale."

After meals we know of nothing more agreeable than a small glass or two of BENEDICTINE. It perfumes the breath, delights the palate, promotes digestion, and is a powerful aid to an inactive or overloaded stomach. During an epidemic, and for combating the evil effects of an impure atmosphere, its curative action is indisputable. At the beginning of last autumn we had occasion to appreciate the full value of this liqueur, and we are now happy to give our highest praise.

DR. MALLET, M.D.

We place all our confidence in the hygienic properties of BENEDICTINE. Invalids and those who suffer from diseases of the respiratory organs, affections of the chests, headaches, congestion of brain, etc., and who cannot take other liqueurs, can safely make BENEDICTINE their favourite drink as a finish to their meals.

DR. ACHILLE PEQUEUR, M.D.

I consider your excellent liqueur invaluable to the old who so frequently suffer from indigestion and attacks of biliousness which often prove fatal. BENEDICTINE has long been well known to me, and it was with great readiness that I ordered our religious and my head resident doctor to administer it as a cordial according to your directions.
